The Recall.

O'er the far blue mountains,
O'er the white sea-foam,
Come, thou long parted one!
Back to thy home,
When the bright fire shineth,
Sad looks thy place;
While the true heart pineth,
Missing thy face.
O'er the far blue mountains,
O'er the white sea-foam,
Come back long parted one!
Back to thy home.
Music is sorrowful
Since thou wert gone;
Sisters are mourning thee—
Come to thine own!
Hark! the home-voiced call,
Back to thy rest!
Come to thy father's hall,
Thy mother's breast!
O'er the far blue mountains,
O'er the white sea-foam,
Come, thou long parted one!
Back to thy home!

Mother, Home and Heaven.

Mother! No earthly word more dear
Best loved of all below;
Alike our friend, what betide,
Prosperity or woe.
Home! What a thrill of joy is felt
At mention of thy name;
If near at hand, or far away,
Thy influence is the same.
Heaven! Blessed abode of rest and peace,
To weary mortals given;
The sweetest sounds we ever hear,
Are Mother, Home, and Heaven.

Spare Moments.

A lean, awkward boy came one morning to the door of the principal of a celebrated school, and asked to see him. The servant eyed his mean clothes, and, thinking he looked more like a beggar than anything else, told him to go around to the kitchen. The boy did as he was bidden, and soon appeared at the back-door.
"You want a breakfast more like," said the servant girl, "and I can give you that without troubling him."
"Thank you," said the boy; "I should have no objections to a bit of bread, but I should like to see Mr. —, if he can see me."
"Some old clothes, may be you want," remarked the servant, again eyeing the boy's patched trousers. "I guess he has none to spare; he gives away a sight," and, without minding the boy's request, she went away about her work.
"Can I see Mr. —?" again asked the boy, after finishing his bread and butter.
"Well, he's in the library; if he must be alone sometimes," said the girl, in a peevish tone. She seemed to think it very foolish to admit such an ill-looking fellow into her master's presence; however, she wiped her hands, and bade him follow.
Opening the library door, she said:
"Here's somebody, sir, who is dreadful anxious to see you, and so I let him in."
I don't know how the boy introduced himself, or how he opened his business; but I know that after talking a while, the principal put aside the volume which he was studying, and took up some Greek books, and began to examine the newcomer. The examination lasted some time. Every question which the principal asked, the boy answered as readily as could be.
"Upon my word," exclaimed the principal, "you certainly do well," looking at the boy from head to foot over his spectacles. "Why, my boy, where did you pick up so much?"
"In my spare moments," answered the boy.
Here he was, poor, hard-working, with but few opportunities for schooling, yet almost fitted for college, by simply improving his spare moments. Truly, are not spare moments the "gold dust of time"? How precious they should be! What account can you show for them? Look and see. This boy can tell you how very much can be laid up by improving them; and there are many, many other boys, I am afraid in jail, in the house of correction, in the forecastle of a whale-ship, in the timpling shop, who, if you should ask them when they began their sinful courses, might answer: "In my spare moments."
"In my spare moments," I gambled for marbles. "In my spare moments, I began to smoke and drink." "It was in my spare moments that I began to steal chestnuts from the old woman's stand." "It was in my spare moments that I gathered wicked associates."
Oh, be very careful how you spend your spare moments! Temptation always hunts you out in small seasons like these when you are not busy; he gets into your heart, if he possibly can, in just such gaps. There he hides himself, planning all sorts of mischief. Take care of your spare moments.

Stop that Peeping.

Take our advice, and never watch your neighbors. It is a vulgar practice at best. Moreover, it is a very unsatisfactory one. Listeners, they say, never hear anything good of themselves. In the same way, peeping folks never see much to satisfy their self-complacency; and this occasions feelings which do not tend to render life at all more agreeable. But, worse than this, in arrogating to yourself the right to watch others, you tacitly admit their right to watch you. And however correct you may be in your deportment, however unimpeachable in your course, there are always points of moment which you prefer to keep to yourself. There are always circumstances which, when fully understood, are honorable; but which when grasped as a watcher must grasp it, in disconnected parts, are susceptible of sinister interpretation, and your neighbor may not be of as charitable a nature as you! Abandon the habit, therefore, of prying into the affairs of others and you will afford them no pretext of prying into yours.

A Word to Boys.—Begin early in life to collect libraries of your own. Begin with a single book, and when you find or learn of any first rate book, obtain it if you can. After a while another, as you are able, and so on, and read it. Take the best care of your books, and in this way, when you are men, you will have good libraries in your hands as well as standing on your shelves.

Winter Wheat—Early Sowing.

The experience of our farmers in winter wheat growing has already demonstrated, we think, the necessity of early sowing to the perfection of a good crop. Judging from other crops this might be expected. All of them require to be got into the ground earlier, here, than they do at the East or North. It is so with winter wheat. The greatest drawback upon that crop, as far as our observation extends in this Territory, is to be apprehended from rust. The hot showery weather which we experience during the month of June is peculiarly productive of that malady. And it is in that month, that late sowed winter wheat has just arrived at that peculiar stage of its growth, when rust is most destructive, while the early sowed has so nearly approached maturity as to escape with impunity. It thus frequently happens that an early sowed field will present a fine, full, plump berry, while one right by the side of it, but two weeks later, will be struck with the rust and the berry so shrunk as to be almost worthless.
We believe that any piece of winter wheat, well put in by the first day of September, will almost invariably escape the rust. Those fields sowed from the 1st to the 15th of September run some risk, may be first-rate or may be seriously injured, while those got in after the 15th are more likely to rust than not. The prominent position which our winter wheat crop is fast coming to occupy, renders this matter of the proper time to put it in, one of great importance. Our farmers, therefore, should be looking about them—preparing the ground, procuring the seed, and making ready to have this important crop put in in good season.

Beef Tea.

A most excellent food for the convalescent, is made of half a pound of lean beef, cut in small pieces, and soaked half an hour, or more, in a quart of cold water, and afterwards boiled a few minutes, stirring it a little as it begins to boil. Then pour it into a bowl upon a piece of hot, well-browned toasted bread. Drink off the liquid, or eat toast and all with a spoon. The only seasoning allowed is a trifle of salt, or a very slight flavor, from a red pepper-pod. If there is a sense of chilliness in the patient, a whole pepper-pod may be used, making the tea very fiery. It will then be a good rudorific.

A bachelor says:—"A woman will cling to the chosen of her heart like a fly to a 'Catchem-alive,' and you can't separate her without snapping strings no art can mend; and leaving a portion of her soul on the upper leather of your affections. She will sometimes see something to love where others see nothing to admire; and when fondness is once fastened on a fellow, it sticks like a penny-stamp to an envelope, or a tax-gatherer to your house-door."

A farmer sowing his ground, some dandies came riding along the way, when one of them halted to him in an insolent air.
"Well, honest fellow," said he, "it is your business to sow, but we reap the fruits of your labor."
To which the countryman replied, "It is very likely you may, for I am sowing hemp."

THE RETORT COURTEOUS.—A thick-headed squire being worsted by the Rev. Sydney Smith in an argument, took his revenge by exclaiming: "If I had a son who was an idiot, by Jove I'd make him a parson."
"Very probably," replied Sydney, "but I see your father was of a different mind."

"Speaking of shaving," said a pretty girl to an obdurate old bachelor, "I should think that a pair of handsome eyes would be the best mirror to shave by." "Yes; many a poor fellow has been shaved by them," the wretch replied.

At the door of a ladies' shoe-store is a large case containing gaiters—and a card which was nailed on the box, said:
"Look at these gaiters for one dollar."
Not having a dollar to spare we did not stop to look.

WIT-LINGS.—Noah is thought to have had on board a supply of "exterminator" from the fact that for nearly six weeks he was without seeing Ary-rat.

CENTRAL KANSAS LAND AND COLLECTION AGENCY.

The Oldest Agency in the Neosho Valley!

OFFICE AT THE EMPORIA HOUSE.

WITH THE COMMENCEMENT OF THE

New Year I wish to return my hearty thanks for the liberal support and encouragement that has been extended to me in my business for the past two years. This office was opened here about two years ago, not with the expectation of realizing a fortune, but with the hope of contributing something towards the settlement and improvement of this beautiful valley, by means of direct personal effort, and by furnishing information to those at the East who were seeking homes and occupation at the West. I have endeavored to keep steadily in view the future of this town and country, and by means of considerable labor and expense, regardless of present profit, my business is now established upon a firm and reliable basis; and I can offer to all who entrust their business to my care, an intimate knowledge of the country, its inhabitants, and their circumstances, derived from extensive travel, and constant intercourse with settlers, upon and since their arrival. I claim to be thoroughly conversant with the wants and capabilities of the country, and shall endeavor to give correspondents or emigrants such advice as they cannot realize. My facilities for the transaction of business are unequalled by any office in the Neosho Valley. I shall attend all the

Government Land Sales,

and can safely say to capitalists and others who desire to invest in Western land that I know I can buy better land for less money, than you could yourselves if present. Emigrants in search of claims or eligible situations for business, can always save time and money by calling at this office. Late plate showing all unoccupied land, always on hand. Deeds, Bonds, Mortgages, Oases, Co-partnerships, and all other legal documents prepared with care, and recorded when desired.

Proof Papers,

Declarations, and Affidavits, made and guaranteed perfect. In fact, everything connected with the rights of Pre-emption attended to with promptness and fidelity. Land Warrants and Money loaned on commission or joint account, and good bargains guaranteed in all cases. Those having Land, Town property or claims to sell can usually find a ready sale through this office, as I advertise the lands, both in the Eastern and Western papers. Those wishing to buy can always find a variety to choose from and good bargains. I will pay taxes for non-residents, and collect debts in all the Neosho river country.
